

Eye Protecting Film Providing Mask Structure

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 A mask structure having a mask body and a pair of ear hanging straps provided on two opposite sides of the mask body, comprises an eye protection film provided on a mask body upper periphery of the mask body and an adhesive area located on a film periphery of the eye protection film. The mask structure provides excellent protection against foreign objects or viruses and bacteria for users with any facial contours. It also will not cause discomfort to users even after prolonged period of wearing.